

Park & Ride lots for Super Bowl ticket holders on gameday (Feb. 4)

Regular light-rail service will not operate on gameday. Metro Transit will operate special service on the Blue Line from Mall of America Station and on the Green Line from Stadium Village Station for those holding an official Super Bowl LII ticket along with a Metro Transit Gameday Fan Express Pass.

The Gameday Fan Express Pass is $30 for the round trip and can only be purchased with the Metro Transit mobile app. There are a limited number of Gameday Fan Express passes available from each station. Fans should use the Metro Transit app to reserve their pass early and/or to check availability.

Mall of America

Super Bowl ticket holders may park free in any available open space at Mall of America on Feb. 4. They must also purchase a Gameday Fan Express Pass to go through security checkpoints and board Blue Line trains. Ticket holders will pass through the security checkpoint inside the Rotunda at Mall of America.

Gameday Fan Express Passes will be valid for specific times for trains leaving starting at 12:30, 1:30, 2:30 and 3:30 p.m.

University of Minnesota

The University will be offering $40 day of game cash parking in the parking lots near the Stadium Village Station. Super Bowl ticket holders must also purchase a Gameday Fan Express Pass to go through security checkpoints and board Green Line trains here. There will be a rolling opening of parking lots as one fills, another will open. Lots are adjacent to TCF Bank Stadium (Gold and Gopher lots) and nearby. (Victory lot)

Green Line service will operate normally between Stadium Village and Union Depot stations on gameday.

Union Depot

On gameday, Union Depot will have regular pricing in effect of between $4-$10. Super Bowl ticket holders could park at Union Depot and take the Green Line to Stadium Village Station. They would then need to exit the train and go through security checkpoints before boarding the Green Line train again for travel to U.S. Bank Stadium.

Gameday Fan Express Passes will be valid for specific times for trains leaving starting at 12:30, 1:30, 2:30 and 3:30 p.m.

Fans using this option should purchase the Gameday Fan Express Pass using the Metro Transit app and bypass ticket machines at Union Depot.

Metro Transit 28th Avenue Park & Ride

Blue Line trains will not serve this Park & Ride on gameday. However, customers could park here and take replacement bus service to Mall of America or even walk. Fans using this option would need to purchase a Gameday Fan Express Pass to go through security checkpoints at MOA and follow the same procedure as those parking at Mall of America.
